Subject: Hydrogen Interruptible Rate Pilot

Hello Everyone,

The Independent Electricity System Operator (IESO) would like to provide you with an update on the potential development of Hydrogen Interruptible Rate Pilot. Initially, the Ministry of Energy asked the IESO to report back on a plan for the hydrogen interruptible rate pilot by September 15, 2023. However, please be informed that the submission of this report has been postponed until there is further clarity on the federal government's Investment Tax Credit (ITC) related to clean hydrogen production. We will provide an updated timeline once further details on the ITC are available.
