Subject: November 3 Engagement Webinar – Northwest Regional Electricity Planning

The IESO will host a public webinar on Thursday, November 3 at 10:00 a.m. to provide an update on the electricity planning – Integrated Regional Resource Plan (IRRP) – for the Northwest region. We will present an overview of the options examined to meet the electricity needs in this region for the planning period and seek input on the resulting recommendations for the IRRP. This will be the final webinar as part of the Northwest regional electricity planning engagement initiative before the plan is finalized by the end of this year.

Register to join the November 3 webinar. (Note: Upon registration, you will receive an email confirmation containing a calendar invitation with meeting details. Please save this invitation to your calendar to ensure you have access to the details for the event.)

Webinar materials will be available in advance including the presentation material as well as a response to the feedback received during our previous engagement session. Visit the Northwest Regional Planning engagement webpage for information about this planning initiative and all the engagement activities to date.

Thank you,
