Market Manuals

The market manuals consolidate the market procedures and associated forms, standards, and policies that define certain elements relating to the operation of the IESO-administered markets. Market procedures provide more detailed descriptions of the requirements for various activities than is specified in the market rules. Where there is a discrepancy between the requirements in a document within a market manual and the market rules, the market rules shall prevail. Standards and policies appended to, or referenced in, these procedures provide a supporting framework.

Market Procedures

The “Market Administration Manual” is Volume 2 of the market manuals, where this document forms “Part 2.1: Dispute Resolution”.

Structure of Market Procedures

Each market procedure is composed of the following sections:

1. Introduction, which contains general information about the procedure, including an overview, a description of the purpose and scope of the procedure, and information about roles and responsibilities of the parties involved in the procedure.
2. Procedural Work Flow, which contains a graphical representation of the steps and flow of information within the procedure.
3. Procedural Steps, which contains a table that describes each step and provides other details related to each step.
4. Appendices, which may include such items as standards, policies, agreements and list of forms.

Conventions

The market manual standard conventions are as defined in the “Market Manual Overview” document.

1. Introduction

1.1 Purpose

The purpose of this document is to describe the negotiation, mediation, and arbitration steps that are used to resolve disputes between parties<sup>1</sup> that are subject to the dispute resolution process described in Chapter 3, section 2 of the market rules. These disputes are described in Chapter 3, section 2.2.1 of the market rules and include most disputes that arise under the market rules, disputes that arise under certain agreements to which the IESO is a party, and disputes relating to orders by the IESO denying authorization to a prospective market participant or denying registration to a prospective metering service provider.

The dispute resolution provisions of Chapter 3, section 2 of the market rules also apply to disputes between market participants where all of the parties to the dispute so agree. Accordingly, the procedure outlined in this market manual generally also applies to such disputes, though the right to intervene is not available as an option in the context of such disputes.

1.2 Scope

This procedure is intended to provide parties to a dispute with a summary of the steps and interfaces involved in the resolution of disputes under the dispute resolution process described in Chapter 3, section 2 of the market rules. The procedural work flows and steps described in this document serve as a roadmap for parties to a dispute and reflect the requirements set out in the market rules or from any standard, policy or procedure established by the IESO pursuant to the market rules.

The dispute resolution process described in this procedure is not intended to be used for market surveillance. Where a breach of the market rules or inappropriate market conduct is suspected or detected, the matter should be referred to the Market Assessment and Compliance Division. (See “Market Manual 2: Part 2.6: Treatment of Compliance Issues” and “Part 2.7: Treatment of Market Surveillance Issues” for more information on these processes.) Thus, this procedure does not address:

- disputes between the IESO and a market participant that arise under or are related to a contract between them, unless agreed to by both parties.
- the appointment of the members of the dispute resolution panel and the selection of the secretary by the IESO Board. These matters are addressed in the “Governance and Structure By-Law”.
- the execution of confidentiality agreements by members of the dispute resolution panel. This matter is addressed by the IESO Board when it appoints members to the Panel.

<sup>1</sup> The parties to a dispute may be the IESO, market participants, prospective market participants, meter service providers, prospective meter service providers, waiver applicants or connection applicants .

Some disputes will be resolved by processes managed by authorities other than the IESO or the OEB. The dispute resolution panel does not have a role in these disputes, which will typically be resolved using commercial arbitration or the civil courts. Disputes to be settled by processes other than those identified in the market rules or managed by the OEB include:

- disputes arising under contracts or agreements to which the IESO is a party and that are not required to be resolved using the process described in the market rules or a process managed by the OEB;
- disputes relating to the standards established by a standards authority, including the Northeast Power Coordinating Council (NPCC) and the North American Electric Reliability Council (NERC), to the extent that an agreement with the relevant standards authority provides for an alternative dispute resolution mechanism;
- disputes arising under the agreement between the IESO and Ontario Power Generation Incorporated regarding the provision of market-based ancillary services as contemplated in the IESO's Licence; and
- disputes relating to metering under the Electricity and Gas Inspection Act. This Act contains a dispute resolution process applicable to certain metering disputes that can be used by market participants that are not satisfied with the outcome of the market rules dispute resolution process<sup>2</sup>.

The overview information in Section 1.3, below, is provided for context purposes only, highlighting the main actions that comprise the procedure as illustrated in Section 2 and described in Section 3.

1.3 Overview

This market procedure on dispute resolution is the procedure by which disputes described in Chapter 3, Section 2.2.1 of the market rules are to be resolved.

The dispute resolution process is inherently unpredictable since, among other reasons, much of the process is dictated or directed by the mediator or arbitrator (within the scope of the market rules) and settlement may occur at any stage. As a result, this procedure focuses on the steps by which the party initiating the dispute (the applicant) and the party responding to the dispute (the respondent) work together and with others to settle or seek a formal resolution of the dispute.

The dispute resolution process is generally composed of three stages:

- good faith negotiations;
- mediation; and
- arbitration.

These stages are discussed in more detail in Section 2.

<sup>2</sup> Note that the process described in this procedure is required to be used first, in this situation.

1.4 Roles and Responsibilities

Responsibility for resolving a dispute through the dispute resolution process is shared between the IESO and the other party or parties to the dispute. The role of each party will depend on whether it is initiating or responding to the dispute.

Responsibility for carrying out the procedures involved in dispute resolution is shared among:

- Applicants and respondents, who are responsible for:
  - submitting a notice of dispute in order to begin good faith negotiations;
  - initiating or responding to good faith attempts to resolve the dispute amicably;
  - assigning a negotiator with authority to participate in good faith negotiations aimed at an amicable resolution of the dispute;
  - submitting a notice of dispute or response in order to begin the mediation or arbitration dispute resolution processes;
  - where mediation applies, assigning a representative to participate in mediation with the authority to bind the represented party to any settlement that may be reached; and
  - selecting the arbitrator who will arbitrate the dispute in the event that mediation fails, or where mediation is not required, to resolve the matter, and participating in the arbitration hearing.

Responsibility for the administration and implementation of the dispute resolution process is shared among:

- The dispute resolution panel, any member of which is appointed to mediate or arbitrate disputes, and the secretary of the dispute resolution panel, are responsible for:
  - receipt of documentation relating to a dispute that is required by the market rules to be filed with the secretary;
  - assigning a member of the dispute resolution panel to act as mediator, as required;
  - providing to the parties a list of at least three members of the dispute resolution panel available for selection as the arbitrator;
  - selecting a member of the dispute resolution panel as the arbitrator if the disputing parties make no such selection within the time required;
  - overseeing the administration of the dispute resolution process once the mediation phase is commenced or dispensed with; and
  - maintaining the records of disputes and transferring such records to the IESO for archiving.
- The mediator, as appointed by the secretary or mutually agreed upon by all parties, is responsible for:
  - presiding over mediation sessions attended by the parties;
  - assisting in fact-finding;
  - meeting jointly or separately with the parties;

- making recommendations for settlement;
- with the consent of the parties, requesting that an employee, officer, director, or agent of the IESO, or a member of the dispute resolution panel, provide information relevant to the dispute, including confidential information; and
- with the consent of the parties, obtaining expert advice concerning technical aspects of the dispute.

(Note: The mediator has no authority to make any decision with respect to the outcome of the dispute, and is there to assist the parties in settling their dispute.)

- The arbitrator, appointed by the parties to the dispute or by the secretary, as the case may be, is responsible for:
  - the receipt of written statements containing submissions from both the applicant and the respondent;
  - fixing a date, time, and place for the arbitration hearing;
  - in its sole discretion, granting leave to intervene to any market participant;
  - filing the record of the arbitration proceedings with the secretary;
  - filing an invoice containing an itemized statement of the costs of arbitration with the secretary;
  - delivering its award in writing within 30 days of completion of the hearing, unless the parties otherwise agree; and
  - filing a copy of its award with the secretary and filing a copy with the IESO for publication.
- The IESO, which is responsible for:
  - publishing information pertaining to disputes as and when required by the market rules;
  - archiving the records of each dispute; and
  - issuing invoices to recover the costs incurred in the resolution of a dispute.

Disputes may sometimes involve many parties, with such parties typically being aligned in interest with either the applicant or the respondent. The dispute resolution procedure described in this document outlines the process for resolving disputes involving only two parties. For disputes involving more than two parties, all other parties should be served with relevant documentation, as applicable, and otherwise treated as a party to the proceedings in the same manner as would apply to a single applicant or respondent. The procedural rights of an intervenor will be determined by the arbitrator when it grants an intervenor leave to intervene.

1.5 Contact Information

As part of the participant authorization and registration process, applicants are able to identify a range of contacts within their organization that address specific areas of market operations. In the area of disputes, this contact will most likely be the Dispute Resolution market contact type as assigned by the market participant. If a market participant has not identified a Dispute Resolution contact, the IESO will seek to contact its Main Contact that is established during the participant authorization

- the IESO's obligation to publish the address of the secretary under Chapter 3, section 2.1.4, of the market rules.

Other sections of the market rules provide for a dispute resolution process prior to or other than that described in this procedure. These address disputes related to:

- suspension orders and associated disconnection orders issued pursuant to Chapter 3, section 6.3;
- termination orders and associated disconnection orders issued pursuant to Chapter 3, section 6.4;
- orders cancelling the registration of facilities pursuant to Chapter 3, section 6.5;
- the revocation of the registration of a metering service provider pursuant to Chapter 3, section 5.3; and
- disputes relating to commissioning.

The role of the IESO in the foregoing disputes is likely to be primarily that of a respondent, but it may also in certain cases be an applicant. The dispute resolution panel does not have a role in these disputes, other than with respect to the revocation of the registration of a metering service provider, where the Chapter 3, section 2 of the market rules process can apply after any show cause hearing held by the IESO Board. In all of the above cases, other than in respect of commissioning disputes, the market participant or metering service provider has an opportunity to request a hearing before the IESO Board to show cause why the relevant order should not be issued. In the case of suspension orders and termination orders, an appeal also lies to the Ontario Energy Board (OEB).

Some disputes will be resolved by processes managed by the OEB. The role of the IESO in the following matters of dispute is likely to be primarily that of a respondent, but it may also in certain cases be an applicant. The dispute resolution panel does not have a role in these disputes. Disputes to be settled through the process(es) established by the OEB include:

- a dispute pertaining to non-compliance by the IESO with its licence;
- the appeal of an IESO order pertaining to a financial penalty or other amount of money greater than that prescribed in the applicable regulation (Electricity Act, 1998, section 36.1 (a));
- the appeal of an IESO order that denies a person authorization to participate in the IESO-administered markets (Electricity Act, 1998, 36.1 (b));
- the appeal of an IESO order to terminate, suspend or restrict the right of a person to participate in the IESO-administered markets (Electricity Act, 1998, 36.1 (c));
- disputes pertaining to proposals to amend or not amend any provision of Chapter 3, section 2.2.3.2 of the market rules;
- the appeal of an arbitration award made under Chapter 3, section 2.2.3.8 of the market rules; and
- certain disputes under operating agreements and under certain ancillary services contracts and reliability must-run contracts (Ontario Energy Board Act, 1998, Section 70(3) and IESO Licence, Sections 13.4, 13.5, 14.4, and 15.4.)

process. The IESO will seek to contact these individuals for activities within this procedure, unless alternative arrangements have been established between the IESO and the market participant. For more information on the participant authorization process see “Market Manual 1: Connecting to Ontario’s Power System Part 1.5: Market Registration Procedures.

If the market participant wishes to contact the IESO, the market participant can contact IESO Customer Relations via email at customer.relations@ieso.ca or via telephone, mail or courier to the numbers and addresses given on the IESO website (www.ieso.ca). If IESO Customer Relations is closed, telephone messages or emails may be left in relevant voice or electronic IESO mail boxes, which will be answered as soon as possible by Customer Relations staff.

Standard forms that applicants must complete for this procedure are listed in Appendix A. These forms are generally available for downloading on the *IESO*s website. These signed forms as well as the accompanying supporting documentation must be transmitted to the IESO via mail, email or courier, by using the appropriate address or number provided on the IESO website or on the form. All correspondence relating to this procedure shall identify the subject: Dispute Resolution. It is important that proof of service is retained. Service by email will be effective when email confirmation has been received by the party serving the form, from the receiving party. For any questions specific to dispute resolution please contact customer.relations@ieso.ca.

2. Procedural Work Flow

The diagrams in this section represent the flow of work and information relating to the dispute resolution procedure among the IESO, the primary external participant involved in the procedure, and any other parties.

The steps illustrated in the diagrams are described in detail in Section 3.

Table 2–1: Legend for Work Flow Diagrams

Legend	Description
Oval	An event that triggers task or that completes task. Trigger events and completion events are numbered sequentially within procedure (01 to 99).
Task Box	Shows reference number, party responsible for performing task (if “other party”), and task name or brief summary of task. Reference number (e.g., 1A.02) indicates procedure number within current market manual (1), sub-procedure identifier (if applicable) (A), and task number (02).
Solid horizontal line	Shows information flow between the IESO and external parties.
Solid vertical line	Shows linkage between tasks.
Broken line	Links trigger events and completion events to preceding or succeeding task.

2.1 Negotiating in Good Faith

Good faith negotiations are the first stage in attempting to resolve a dispute and this is initiated by the serving of a notice of dispute on the respondent only. If this process fails to resolve the dispute, the parties may initiate the more formal stage of the dispute resolution process that, as described in Section 2.2 below, commences with the filing of a notice of dispute with the secretary.

Where the dispute involves an order, direction, instruction or other decision of the IESO, the parties must commence good faith negotiations within two years of the date of receipt of the order, direction, instruction or other decision.

Where a dispute is not settled through good faith negotiations, one of the parties must file with the other a “Notice of Termination of Negotiation” form as available on the IESO website.

Successful negotiations may lead to a requirement by one party to make a payment to the other or to take some other form of action. The terms and conditions on which any payment is to be made or other action taken will be specific to the agreement reached and, as such, this element is not documented in the work flow diagram presented below.

Figure 2–1 represents the flow of work and information relating to negotiating in good faith between the party identifying the dispute and the party responding to the dispute. The party identifying the dispute or the party responding to the dispute may be the IESO, market participants, prospective market participants, meter service providers, prospective meter service providers, waiver applicants or connection applicants.

The parties to the dispute may wish to enter into a confidentiality agreement at this stage of the dispute resolution process, although it is not required by the market rules and is not addressed in Figure 2-1.

The steps illustrated in Figure 2–1 are described in detail in Section 3.1.

Archive

2.2 Filing a Dispute

Where good faith negotiations fail to reach a resolution the applicant may proceed and file the notice of dispute with the secretary.

At this stage, and unless the parties otherwise agree, the secretary will, unless special circumstances or the public interest require him or her to do otherwise, reject a notice of dispute or a response where he or she determines that the notice of dispute or the response as the case may be:

- does not contain the information required by the market rules;
- is not filed within the time prescribed;
- is not accompanied by the required summary; or
- addresses a dispute with respect to which good faith negotiations were not commenced within the time prescribed (as described in Section 2.1, above).

Where the secretary rejects a notice of dispute or a response, he or she will provide written reasons for the rejection to the applicant and the respondent. Where a response is rejected, the respondent should resubmit a revised response within the required timeframe.

Figure 2–2 represents the flow of work and information relating to the initiation of the more formal stage of the dispute resolution process. The steps illustrated in Figure 2–2 are described in detail in Section 3.2.

2.3 Participating in Mediation

The mediation stage of the dispute resolution process is triggered by the service and filing of a response to the initial filing of a notice of dispute (or, if no response is filed, by the expiry of time within which a response is required to be filed). Where a response contains a cross-claim or counterclaim against another respondent, the secretary will then wait until the earlier of five business days following the filing of a “Response to Cross-claim or Counterclaim” or the expiry of the time for filing a response to the last cross-claim filed. At such time, the secretary will, unless he or she is of the view that the dispute is not one to which the dispute resolution process set forth in Chapter 3, section 2 of the market rules applies (or has received notification that all parties to the dispute agree to dispense with mediation) assign a member of the dispute resolution panel or another person if all parties agree pursuant to Chapter 3, Section 2.6.2A to act as mediator and will so notify the parties.

Absent agreement of the parties, mediation does not apply to:

- an application by a generator for compensation pursuant to Chapter 5, Section 6.7.5 of the market rules in respect of an outage rejected by the IESO;
- a dispute relating to a reviewable decision referred to in Chapter 6, section 5.3.9 6 of the market rules (revocation by the IESO of the registration of a metering service provider); or
- a request by a market participant for a settlement statement recalculation or other dispute referred to in Chapter 9, section 6.8.2A, 6.8.2B or 6.8.9 of the market rules.

In these cases, the parties proceed to the arbitration stage described in Section 2.4, below. In addition, where the parties to a dispute agree, they may dispense with the mediation stage by filing a “Notice of Intent to Dispense with Mediation” with the secretary. In such circumstances, the parties would similarly proceed to the arbitration stage described in Section 2.4.

Where mediation is successful, the terms of the settlement will be included in a settlement agreement signed by the parties. A settlement agreement resulting from successful mediation may require one party to make payment to another (or to take some other action). The terms and conditions on which any payment is to be made or other action taken will be specific to the agreement reached and, as such, this element is not documented in the work flow diagram presented below.

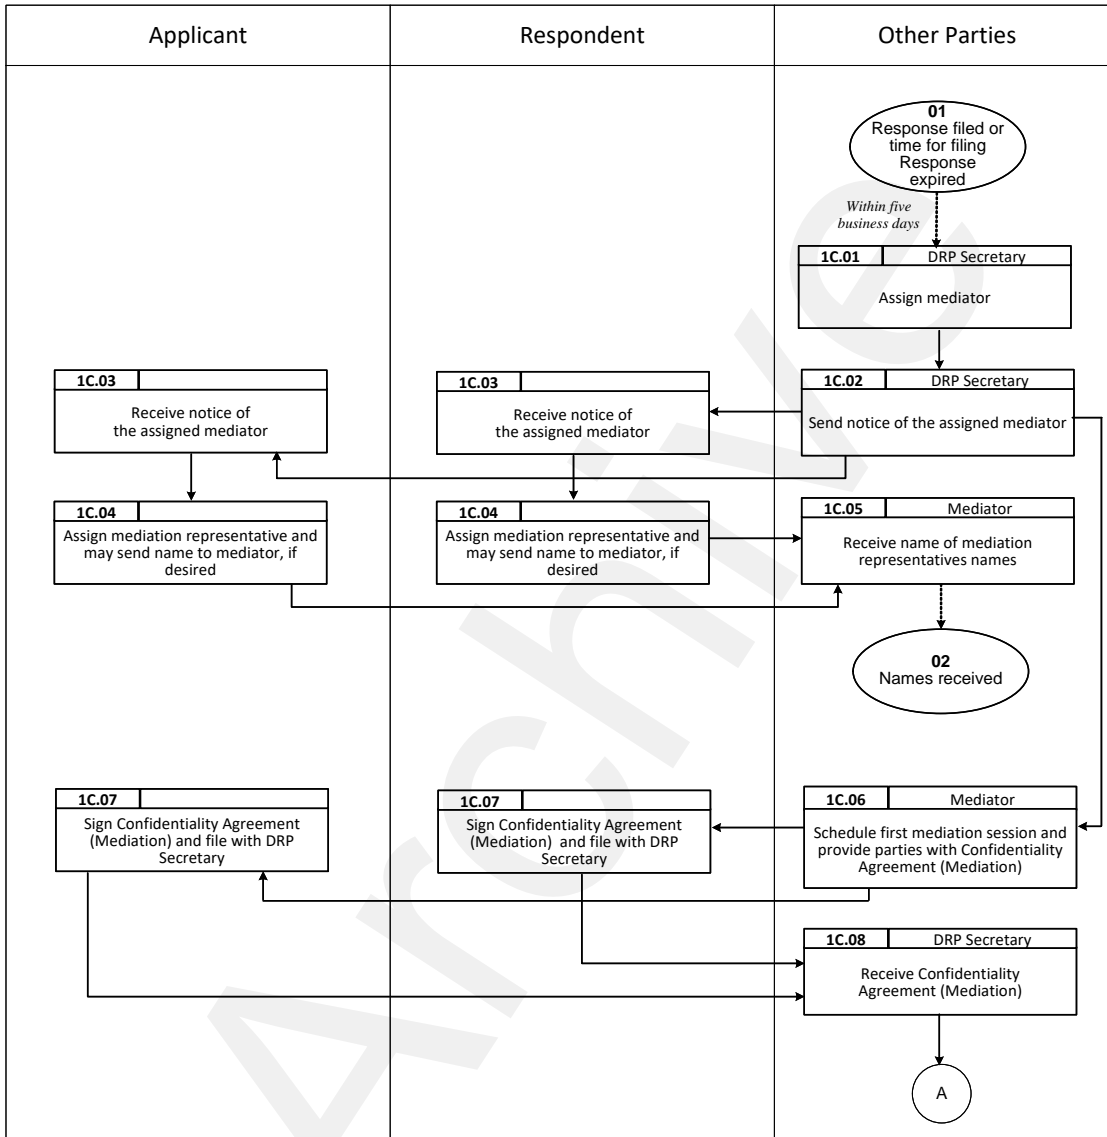

Where mediation is not successful, or the parties have agreed to dispense with mediation, or the time for mediation has expired and not been extended by the parties, the parties proceed to the arbitration stage described in Section 2.4, below. Even though the parties may not have resolved their dispute through the mediation process, they are nonetheless required to attempt to arrive at an agreed statement of fact and/or issues relating to the dispute.

Records of the mediation stage are not all maintained by the secretary or transferred to the IESO for archiving. Consistent with the confidentiality obligations relating to mediation, only the documents identified in Chapter 3, section 2.9.1A of the market rules are maintained by the secretary and subsequently transferred to the IESO for archiving. All other documents will be disposed of in a secure manner<sup>3</sup>.

<sup>3</sup> When a settlement agreement reflects or contains an element that is, in the opinion of the IESO Board, an important matter of public policy or interest, the IESO must publish a statement describing that matter. For example, a settlement agreement may reflect a decision by the IESO to interpret a provision of the market rules in a particular way. This will be made available on the IESO website.

2.4 Participating in Arbitration

When mediation fails to resolve a dispute, or where mediation does not apply (either in accordance with the market rules or by agreement of the parties), the parties proceed to the arbitration stage. At this time, the process of selecting an arbitrator begins.

It is possible for any market participant that might be directly affected by the award of the arbitrator in a given dispute to request leave to intervene in an arbitration hearing. Market participants must apply to the arbitrator, on giving notice to the parties to the dispute, at least five business days prior to the date of the hearing. The form of “Application for Leave to Intervene” is available on the IESO website.

An award of the arbitrator is final and binding on the parties to the dispute, subject only to any rights of appeal or review prescribed by applicable law.

The arbitration hearing takes place at a location to be determined by the arbitrator. To protect legitimate commercial interests relating to the confidentiality of information that a party may wish or be required to disclose for purposes of an arbitration hearing, the arbitration process is subject to specific rules relating to confidentiality. Specifically, a party to a dispute may claim that a document, or information contained in a document, that is to be produced in the context of arbitration is confidential. The party claiming that the document or information is confidential must provide to the arbitrator, in writing, the basis for its assertion of confidentiality. If the arbitrator agrees with the claim, procedural safeguards will be established to protect the confidentiality of the information. Such procedural safeguards could include limiting disclosure of the information to independent legal counsel that has signed a confidentiality undertaking as well as holding in camera hearings.

If the arbitrator obtains expert advice regarding the technical aspects of a dispute, the arbitrator may impose such conditions relating to confidentiality as may be necessary.

An arbitration award resulting from the arbitration process may require one party to make payment to another (or to take some other action). The arbitrator has broad jurisdiction to make any award that is just and reasonable, subject to the provisions of the market rules relating to liability. Possible awards include:

- damages, in appropriate cases;
- imposition of financial penalties on a market participant;
- an order to the IESO directing it to comply with the market rules or to interpret or apply the market rules in a particular manner;
- an order to the IESO to authorize a person to participate in the IESO-administered markets or to change the conditions of an existing authorization;
- an order to the IESO to perform a settlement statement re-calculation;
- an order to the IESO to register a metering service provider or a metering installation or to reinstate the registration of a metering services provider; and
- an order that compensation be paid to a generator in respect of a rejected outage.

The terms and conditions on which any payment is to be made or other action taken will be specific to the arbitration award issued and, as such, this element is not generally documented in the work flow diagram presented below. By way of exception, the market rules do provide that any payment required to be made under an arbitration award must, unless the award itself provides otherwise, be paid within 30 days of the date of the award.

An award of an arbitrator made under the market rules is final and binding and is not subject to appeal or review except as permitted by law. Under Section 36(1) of the Electricity Act, 1998, the following orders of the IESO (including, for this purpose, awards of an arbitrator under the market rules), are subject to appeal to the OEB:

- an order that requires a person to pay a financial penalty;
- an order that denies a person authorization to participate in the IESO-administered markets or to cause or permit electricity to be conveyed into, through or out of the IESO-controlled grid; and
- an order that terminates, suspends, or restricts a market participant's rights to participate in the IESO-administered markets or to cause or permit electricity to be conveyed into, through or out of the IESO-controlled grid (such as the issuance or modification of a suspension order or the issuance of a termination order).

Initiation of an appeal does not stay the disputed order unless the OEB orders otherwise. The appeals process to the OEB is not documented further in this procedure.

Figure 2–4 represents the flow of work and information related to the arbitration process shared between the parties to the dispute. The steps illustrated in Figure 2–4 are described in detail in Section 3.4.
